FARMERS AGAINST THE NOLAN BILL

COMMERCIAL INTERESTS WOULD SHIFT WAR TAX TO FARMER.

THIS COUNTY IS OPPOSED

The County Farm Bureau Here Is Solidly Against the Bill.

The Nolan Bill which purports to place an excise tax of one per cent upon the use and enjoyment of all land values in excess of $10,000 was considered too ridiculous to gain serious consideration in Congress. But big business interests are evidently trying hard to force a favorable consideration of the measure. Mr. Otto Cullman, a car wheel manufacturer, and President-Secretary of the Committee of Manufacturers and Merchants on Federal Taxation with offices at Chicago, is trying to reach every business man in the United States with circulars soliciting their support of this bill. The Daily Grovers Telegram of April 29 published the text of the letters and ciruclars which Mr. Cullman is sending out over the country showing, as the Telegram states, how Mr. Cullman is trying to get the newspapers "to join in helping spread the propaganda of the infamous and odious Nolan Bill." More recently at the annual meeting of the Mississippi Valley Association in St. Louis this same Nolan Bill was presented in a committee, which was considering federal taxation, as the most feasible solution of the present tax problems of the manufacturers and merchants. Also Mr. Cullman had a place on the program under the title "Encouragement of Industry." His plan for encouraging industry was to relieve it of some of the present income and excess taxes and reimburse the Government for this loss by placing a one per cent tax upon land which is valued at $10,000 or more.

Mr. Cullman stated that his committee had 4,000 letters from manufacturers and merchants approving the conditions of the Nolan Bill, with constant additions to that number. This support, evidently, takes the measure out of the "freak" class of legislation and places it actually within the possibility of becoming law. However, the presentation of the results of the Farm Bureau referendum recently taken on this bill by Mr. Gray, president of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation, together with a telegraphic report from the office of Secretary Coverdale of the American Farm Bureau Federation on the complete totals up to that time, served to prevent any recommendation issuing from the annual meeting of the Mississippi Valley Association, as a resolution or otherwise, favorable to the Nolan Bill.

The American Farm Bureau Federation recently thru its Executive Committee decided that the farmers of the nation should be advised of the provisions of the proposed measure. Inasmuch as there are thousands of farm bureau members all over the nation, a referendum was taken to see exactly how the farmers stood on this measure.

In Nodaway county the referendum was submitted April 5th to the members of the Executive Committee and resulted in a unanimous vote of 33 in opposition to the bill, thus casting Nodaway county's vote of approximately 1500 farm bureau members solidly against the bill.

The total vote on this referendum in Missouri showed 28,8845 farm bureau members against and only 30 in favor of this bill.

The farmers contend that their taxes are at present commensurate with their incomes, and if they do not pay a large part of the war tax, it is because of conditions which prevent them from having incomes that are enjoyed by other occupations. Ordinarily taxes are paid by those who can best show an income worthy of taxation. Especially is this true of war taxes, which this measure seeks to raise. Of course if the federal government has to be given more money to maintain itself and to pay off the war debts, the farmers are more than willing to pay their share. But it is suggested by many farmers that perhaps the time is ripe for some drastic restrictions in governmental expenditure so that the present tax will more than meet all requirements.

SERMON TO THE H. S. GRADUATES

THE REV. R. E. SNODGRASS GIVES BACCALAUREATE ADDRESS.

A UNION SERVICE HELD

Subject Was, "Winning the Prize"—"Unsatisfaction Is the First Condition to Larger Achievement."

The baccalaureate sermon to the members of the graduating class of the Maryville high school was given last evening at the union service held at the First Christian church by the Rev. R. E. Snodgrass. His subject was, "Winning the Prize." His sermon follows:

"Brethern, I count not myself yet to have laid hold, but this one thing I do forgetting the things which are behind and stretching forward to the things which are before. I press on toward the goal of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." Phil. 3: 13, 14.

The apostle Paul was an unsatisfied man. Although a man of large attainments in scholarship, wisdom and character; although he had been peculiarly favored by the Lord in receiving his call to the ministry in a special manner; although he had accomplished a great work—yet he was an unsatisfied man. He felt that there was more knowledge to be acquired, larger soul development to be secured, in short greater work to be done than he had ever yet been able to do. Hence the text, "I count not myself yet to have laid hold."

"Unsatisfaction is the first condition to larger achievement. The satisfied, complacent man has reached his goal. There are no other world for him to conquer, no loftier heights for him to climb. He has come to the end of the journey. The great things for him are behind. But who can measure the possibilities of the unsatisfied man? The only thing that can be safely said of him is, "It doth not yet appear what he shall be." Only God can see the end from the beginning, can tell what the outcome of such a life will be. I say an unsatisfied man, not a dissatisfied man. The possibilities of the two are wide apart as the poles, yea as heaven and earth. The dissatisfied man is always destructive, never constructive. He is the grumbler, complainer, faultfinder. Young people, my prayer for you is that you may be, not dissatisfied, but unsatisfied to the last day of your life. God give you the unsatisfied mind and the hungry soul, for herein lies your noblest hope. We find by the text that Man's mission in the world is to do. Being is not the end of life. Being is the means to the end. Doing is the final end. I am

A BREAK DOWN OF TRANSPORTATION

UNLESS WAGE INCREASES ARE GRANTED BY FEDERAL BOARD.

A STATEMENT ISSUED

It Is Reported That a Number of Railroad Officers Concur With Labor Leaders in Their Opinions.

Chicago, May 17.—A nation wide breakdown of railroad transportation will soon confront the nation unless the new federal railway board which began final session here today decides to grant wage increase to railroad workers of the country. This was declared in a formal statement issued by the chiefs of the big railroad brotherhood made public today.

It is reported that the officers of a number of leading railroads concur with the labor leaders in their opinions and have given their approval to this statement. In effect, the statement presents a threat of a general strike in the United States and points out that thousands of railroad employees will quit the service to find more lucrative employment elsewhere and that travel will become hazardous because of lack of men.

Providence, May 1-7. — The first movement of the nation wide protest of the railroad workers against the government delay in meeting the wage increase demands was here today when 150 track laborers went out on a strike.

Washington, May 17. — The interstate Commerce Commission will take no action on the application of the principal railroads for establishment of freight priority for necessities until the end of the week, Secretary McGinty announced today. The commission desired time to examine all data of transportation tieup and to hear reports of their own agent before taking action, McGinty said.

The appeal of the railroads for priority ruling "is a concession of utter failure of the operation of the roads under private ownership," Edward Keating, manager of the Plumb plan league declared today.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Q. Smith Are Celebrating 43rd Wedding Anniversary—An Account of Their Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. C. Q. Smith, former residents of Maryville for a number of years and now living in San Antonio, Texas, are celebrating their forty-third wedding anniversary today in that city. The following account of their wedding is taken from an iss— of the Nodaway Democrat dated May 24, 1877:

One of the most pleasant weddings we have ever had the pleasure to attend transpired in this city on last Thursday evening, the 17th inst., at the residence of Knox Jones, Esq. The parties joining hearts and hands at Hymen's altar on this occasion were Mr. C. Q. Smith and Miss Ella Jones, both of whom are well known in Maryville. The marriage was solemnized in an impressive manner by Rev. Adelhelm, Priest, in the presence of a number of the relatives and friends of the bride and groom. The attendants were Mr. Geo. C. Smith and Miss Emma Ridgeway, Mr. S. E. Heyser and Miss Sallie Lamar. The bride was elegantly attired in a gros grained silk and tarltan dress, Miss Ridgeway in white silk and swiss, Miss Lamar in silk and tarltan. The groom and his attendants were handsomely dressed in conventional black. Among those present in addition to the parties already named, we noticed Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Roseberry, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. Al F. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Pankey, Mr. and Mrs. Howard McCommon, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Jester, Mrs. A. D. Workman, the Misses Hagan, Miss Annie Hayes, Miss Mary Stinson, Mr. H. B. Swarts, Mr. James Monier, Mr. John Lamar and a representative of the Democrat. Mrs. Jones, the bride's mother, arrived from Mississippi a few days before the wedding. After the nuptial ceremony was over, an hour or two was spent in social converse when the whole company was invited into the dining room where was spread in bountiful profusion one of the most magnificent suppers we ever laid eyes upon. The choicest viands, the rarest delicacies, the most elegant cakes, the finest wines and various other articles to satisfy any taste or appetite adorned the table. Everything was arranged artistically and neatly and a mere look at the sumptuous repast was sufficient to warrant the conclusion that it was gotten up and prepared by master hands; those who understand fully the art of getting up a repast for such an auspicious and happy occasion. After retiring from the table the guests enjoyed themselves in various ways, some of the older persons, however, repairing to their homes. One of the amusing features of the evening was the cutting of the bride's cake by the young ladies and gentlemen to see who would get the ring it contained. The fortunate one was Miss Sallie Lamar. Fine music, which

SERMON TO THE GRADUATES

that I may do, not that I may merely exist. My riches consist of deeds. 'Not everyone that saith unto me, Lord, Lord shall enter the Kingdom, but he that doeth the will of my father in Heaven.' Never make he mistake of supposing you are great because of what you are. You are great because of what you do. Greatness can never be truly predicated of anyone until being is translated into doing. All the powers and characteristics of your being are for the sake of doing. A strong body is desirable but not as an end in itself, only as a means of doing. Health is necessary to the largest happiness, it makes you more efficient and it makes you beautiful and I would encourage you to give attention to the science of body building, but that you may be able to do more good in the world. Knowledge is desirable and I would urge you to make use of all opportunities for the largest education, but this is only that you may be better fitted to do things worth while. The only justification you have for seeking knowledge is that you may do. The acquisition of material things is not to be the end of life, but only the means to the end of doing. You must get the mistaken idea that you work to get You get to do. If you go out from this high school with the idea that you must work only to get, then the labor expended on you has been in vain, the purpose of your school has been frustrated and the purpose of God has been thwarted.

"Man's mission in the world is do one thing and do it well. Concentration is necessary to win the prize. He who does one useful thing well need not be ashamed. You must do the right thing. While there is more than one thing in which you might succeed, yet remember there are many things you cannot do. Find the right thing, do it well and magnify your calling. It will be the noblest calling in the world for you. You must do your work unselfishly. Ambitions are good for they give us the forward look, but remember not to make them selfish. Croesus undertook to carry out a program of personal ambitions and he came to an ignominious end. Napoleon and Kaiser Bill furnish more modern examples of those who were willing to wade through blood to a throne. But their overthrow was the significant climacteric of Waterloo and the Marne.

"In order to win the prize, you must remember to 'forget the things which are behind.' There is always the temptation to look back. But the man that habitually looks back has reached the end of the journey, he becomes a statue and stays by the side of the road while the rest of mankind move onward. You must accommodate yourselves to present conditions. And especially in this day, this new day of responsibility, there must be the forward look. A thing is not right because it has always been so, neither is a thing right because it was right a hundred years ago. Sentiment which has to do with the past is a good thing but should always be kept in its proper place. It should be used for seasoning and should not be the only dish on the table. Love your high school, but do not let your love be confined to the narrow space of time you were connected with it. Be true sons and daughters of your alma mater in the largest sense in that you have a sympathy limited only by its history, past present and prospective.

"Then you must 'stretch forward to the things which are before.' This makes you live in the belief that the golden age is before you. You must believe that greater things are yet to be done and resolve to have a hand in the doing. Future preachers, future astronomers, future historians, scientists are to be greater than any gone before. The world today wants men who have visions and not men who dream dreams. Men who live in prospect rather than in retrospect, men who believe it is worth while to fight because there is a glorious prize to be won.

"'I press on toward the goal.' The ardent, zealous, insistent man reaches the goal and lays hold of the prize. The world has no prize for the loiterer. God pity the lazy man for it takes the infinite patience and long-suffering of God to pity such a creature. God bless the industrious man, for under his magic touch the wilderness is transformed and the desert and waste places of the earth are made to blossom and bud like the rose.

"There is a real prize to be won. Reward as you go along but a glorious prize at the end. It will be the crown, unfading and eternal bestowed by the hand of the heavenly father."

Miss Alma Lucas went to Barnard Friday afternoon and will visit until after the commencement exercises of the high school graduates have been given, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cook and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lucas.

ST. JOSEPH BOY HELD IN WALTON DARING ROBBERY

Father of Slain Bandit Died on His Way to Chicago Saturday Afternoon.

St. Joseph, May 17.—Dick Smythe, 19-year-old son of Mrs. Margaret Smythe, 2731 Sacramento street, and close friend of Horace LeRoy Walton, mail car bandit, who was killed by Chicago police following his sensational robbery of an Illinois Central mail car near Chicago early Friday morning, was arraigned in federal court Sunday morning, charged with being an accessory after the fact, in connection with the robbery. Smythe waived preliminary hearing and was confined to county jail last night when he failed to provide $5,000 bond.

Smythe was apprehended yesterday morning by two postoffice inspectors from Kansas City, one from Chicago and local federal authorities who have been working on the case. He was taken into custody at the home of a neighbor, where he had been staying since his return to St. Joseph following the robbery. Accompanied by the officers, he was taken to the home of his mother, who persuaded him to tell the story of his knowledge of the affair.

Smythe declares that he had nothing to do with the robbery and knew nothing of it before hand, but was staying with Walton and was in Walton's apartment when the bandit rushed in early Friday morning after the robbery. In a few words Walton told Smythe of his shooting the policeman after the robbery and told Smythe to "beat it."

Chicago, May 17.—Mrs. L. T. Walton of St. Joseph, Mo., mother of Rorace Walton, who was killed Friday in a fight with the police after he had robbed the Illinois Central New Orleans express of $70,000 and killed Patrolman William Roberts, claimed the body of her son yesterday.

The train on which she came to Chicago also brought the body of her husband, who died Saturday at Bucklin, Mo., while on his way from St. Joseph with his wife.

Mrs. Walton will take the bodies of her husband and son to Champaign, Ill., her former home, where the funerals will be held Tuesday.

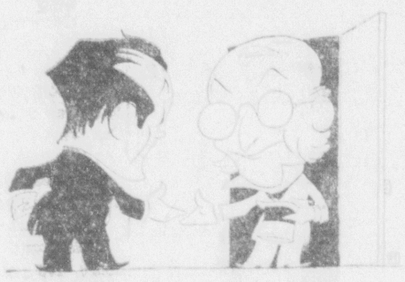
"Even a professor can learn"



THE PROFESSOR dropped in.
LAST NIGHT and said.
HE HAD a puzzle.
YOU KNOW he speaks.
FIFTY SEVEN kinds.
OF HIGHBROW talk.
BUT HE'D just heard.
TWO FELLOWS talking.
SOMETHING LIKE this.
"HERE'S THE real cheese.
ON THE kind of butt.
FOR STEADY stuff."
"SPILL IT," said the other.
SO THE first one said:
"IT'S GOT the goods.
AND PEP and all.
JUST TOUCH one off.
AND YOU'LL be living.
THE LIFE of Reilly.
I FELL for it, and gee,
I'M JAKE for keeps.
AND SITTIN' on the world."
AND THE second one said.
"JUST SLIP us one.
FOR THE double-O."
AND THAT was all.
I LAUGHED and pointed.
OUT THE window.
AND THE prof read.
THE ELECTRIC sign.
AND HE was on.
THE SIGN just said.
"THEY SATISFY."

THERE may be a hundred other ways to say it, but in good plain United States, it's "they satisfy." Those fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos and that can't-be-copied Chesterfield blend put Chesterfields where none can touch them for quality and value.

ESCAPED AN OPERATION

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Many Such Cases.

Cairo, Ill.—"Some time ago I got so bad with female trouble that I thought I would have to be operated on. I had a bad displacement. My right side would pain me and I was so nervous I could not hold a glass of water. Many times I would have to stop my work and sit down or I would fall on the floor in a faint. I consulted several doctors and every one told me the same but I kept fighting to keep from having the operation. I had read so many times of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped my sister so I began taking it. I have never felt better than I have since then and I keep house and am able to do all my work. The Vegetable Compound is certainly one grand medicine." —Mrs. J. E. MATTHEWS, 3311 Sycamore Street, Cairo, Ill.

Of course there are many serious cases that only a surgical operation will relieve. We freely acknowledge this, but the above letter, and many others like it, amply prove that many operations are recommended when medicine in many cases is all that is needed.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

PARNELL COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES LAST WEEK

Last week the commencement exercises of the Parnell high school were held. On Thursday night the Senior class of the school gave the sparkling two-act comedy entitled "Miss Molly," to an appreciative audience at the opera house. It was exceptionally well rendered, all the characters in the cast giving their part with credit. The audience applauded liberally and many compliments were passed on the manner in which the play was rendered. It will be repeated Saturday night and a crowded house is assured.

The regular graduating exercises were held at the Methodist church on Friday evening, May 14. The class came in to the music of a march played by Mrs. Inez Cummins and after the invocation Miss Corinne Cottman rendered a vocal solo in a very pleasing manner. The next number, a violin solo by Frank Auer, was enjoyed by all. Then came the address to the class given by the Rev. Gilbert S. Cox of Maryville. He took as a subject the theme, "Building a Masterpiece," and for more than an hour he held the closest attention of his audience. Wit, humor and pathos were mingled with passages of rare eloquence and genuine oratory. His advice to the class was given, and received as well in a delightful manner. The class received their diplomas from the hand of J. F. LaFavor, president of the board of education. The following received diplomas:

Felix White, Alma Morris, Iva Burns, Mildred LaFavor, Helen Marston, Veda Rauson, Leona Mayfield, Cecil Hall, Evadne Batt, Cecil Brown,

Making the Shoe Fit the Foot

ONE of the outstanding features of the efficiency of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is its ability to expand to meet conditions.

In 1919 there were 1,434,909 more motor vehicles in the United States than in 1918.

This enormous increase in automotive power made necessary a vast increase of distribution facilities in order that your car, wherever it might be, should never lose its usefulness because of an empty gasoline tank.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) anticipated this increasing demand and met it amply in the eleven states it serves with a fleet of 4306 motor trucks, a caravan of horse-drawn wagons, and a little army of 530,000 iron barrels, so that even in remote districts no tractor, truck or pleasure car, need be without fuel at any time.

Take into consideration the fact that of the 1,434,909 new motor vehicles put into service in 1919, approximately 573,964 went to farms, and you will appreciate the necessity for this vast distributive system.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) appreciates that the automobile has passed from the realm of luxury and has become an essential, and that gasoline to run it has become an industrial necessity.

The Company takes pride in the fact that it has met this need in the spirit of service, that it has been keen in anticipating the wants of the public, and efficient in satisfying them through the most perfect distribution system in the world.
